

FAYETTE COUNTY

COMMUNITY RESOURCE GUIDE

Last Updated in November 2021

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to our newest Fayette County community resource guide. Within these pages are phone numbers, websites, addresses, and brief descriptions of many resources in Fayette County. Whether you're struggling or know someone struggling with mental health, substance use, unemployment, disability, medical cost, domestic violence, suicidal thoughts, addiction, food insecurity, etc, you are not alone and there is someone here to support you.

The COVID-19 pandemic has demonstrated that we are all vulnerable to financial and personal challenges. We have learned how essential community is during periods of loss, stress, or disaster. Let this resource guide connect you to people in your community who are here to extend an extra hand.

Information compiled by Fayette County Public Health and NFV Community Coalition.

This resource guide should not be considered all-inclusive. There is no implied endorsement of any particular service mentioned. Information may change at any time. This resource guide is updated as our community changes. If you have any suggested edits or additions, please call us at 563-422-6267.
